Living inside out

I don't know how many times I have come across sincere believers in Jesus Christ, who have been born again with an incorruptible seed, but still after many years live in defeat.

In my early walk with Christ my love and passion was real, but quickly I became aware of areas where I was constantly under attack. What helped me was the advice of Isaiah on how we can prevent the enemy encroaching on our space and destroying the very things we long for.

Isaiah 60.18, He states, "but you shall call your walls salvation and your gates praise."

This is best illustrated in the book of Nehemiah when Nehemiah became burdened by the plight of Jerusalem because the walls were broken down and the gates burned with fire (Nehemiah 1.4). In simple terms the city was exposed.

What I found helpful was to see myself like the City of Jerusalem; God abides in my Spirit, (the Temple) and I express myself through my soul (the City.) If there aren't any walls protecting my soul, like Jerusalem I am constantly exposed, opening myself to the attack of the enemy.

Some of the areas we will be attacked in are our self worth, our moral compass, our prosperity of soul, our generosity of heart, our career, our health, our ability to love unconditionally, and our relational well being.

Salvation is not just a moment when we give our lives to Christ, but it is also a process. We are being changed from glory to glory as by the Spirit of the Lord. (2 Corinthians 3.18)

When we can lead ourselves by developing a prosperous soul, we are then better positioned to lead others!
