Deep Work

Just a few weeks ago we held Round Table meetings in cities around the nation. The key discussion in the meetings revolved around the need for Senior Ministers to make time for the Holy Spirit to do "Deep Work" in their lives. Time devoted to being with God, in a location and place that provides privacy and the opportunity of extended time, are critical components to meeting with God. The goal is progress in our walk with Christ. There's personal benefit and corporate benefit from time invested in this manner. It's actually a continuation of the discipleship process and ought to be in addition to our regular devotional time.

As a movement, we want to see all our churches flourishing. The Holy Spirit provides help in this task that exceeds all other assistance. Leading people, understanding their needs and circumstances, believing and working towards salvations, healing and miracles. Often the Senior Minister is the gatekeeper for this sort of activity. In other words, we promote it or we prevent it by our positioning!

Identifying, equipping and raising people to serve in the ministry is the Ephesians 4 responsibility of the minister. We need to build processes that release people into their God given call, so that churches thrive as Christ intended. It takes time and effort. It is our call and God is honoured as we apply ourselves to the challenge.

We all started with a dream given by God, let's work towards living out that dream and honouring God in the process.
